WEAR BADGES SAYING HE'S STAYING HOME

Utter Simplicity Will Mark Administering of Oath to Coolidge Tomorrow

CEREMONIES ON AT NOON

President Wants Ceremonies Cut so Exercises Will Close in Mid-afternoon

By Associated Press

Washington—Wisconsin visitors for the inaugural ceremonies filed into the White house executive offices for a reception Tuesday wearing white ribbon badges inscribed: "Our governor isn't here but we are." E. H. Miles, mayor of Fort Atkinson, who was chairman of the delegation explained that the state legislature and the governor had all turned down a proposal to send representatives to the Coolidge inauguration but that representatives of several municipalities had decided to come on their own account.

"Wisconsin was the only state carried by Senator La Follette in opposition to the Coolidge-Dawes ticket."

In setting that reflected but dimly the splendor that has shone upon inaugural history for a century and more, the American government brought to completion Tuesday its plans to install a new national administration at noon Wednesday.

QUIETEST KNOWN

Everything considered it was the quietest March 3 of an inauguration year that Washington has seen in many a decade. The ceremonies Wednesday will be somewhat more extended than those of four years ago when President Harding ordered that the whole inauguration be attended by utter simplicity, but on that occasion the impending change of government stirred the capital to a high pitch of expectation and brought here a tremendous crowd of spectators.

Tuesday the wide avenues of the capital were almost barren of pre-inaugural crowds, and only a few scattered reviewing stands and profusion of red, white and blue which draped almost every building along the line of Wednesday's abbreviated parade, evidenced the near approach of another inauguration day.

At the White house President Coolidge was a little busier than ordinary, receiving distinguished visitors and keeping pace with the fevered activities of the dying congress, but he went about "doing the day's work" according to the motto he long ago adopted as his watchword of public service, without apparent thought of the morrow.

DAWES ON HAND

One of those who called on the President was Charles C. Dawes of Chicago, the soldier statesman who in another 24 hours will become the nation's second in command. Following his celebrated dinner pipe on a trip about the capital to renew old acquaintances the Vice president-elect dropped in for an hour's chat with his chief, and regaled senators whom he met in the executive offices with quips about staid parliamentary decorum he foresaw for himself as presiding officer of the senate.

Under the plan of brevity and economy laid down by Mr. Coolidge himself, the entire official program should be concluded by mid-afternoon. It is the passing of the inaugural parade that usually draws out the ceremony until evening, and this time there will be places in the program only for the governors of states and their staffs and less than 10,000 soldiers, sailors and marines assembled from posts nearby.

Except for the opening scenes, it is impossible to measure by the clock the course of Wednesday's repetition of the quadrennial drama of inauguration. If everything progresses smoothly, however, and no last minute legislative tangle upsets the expectations of officials the day's events will be in full swing by noon in Washington (11 o'clock Appleton time).

Can't Prove Charges, Says Mellon In Answer To Bond Fraud Report

House Committee Recommends Complete Audit of Public Debt, Following Discovery of Duplications in U. S. Bonds

By Associated Press

Washington, D. C.—Secretary Mellon, in a letter to President Coolidge Tuesday informed the executive that the treasury's "accusers" charging irregularities in the handling of federal securities remain "as far now from proving their charges as they were in 1920."

A report urging a complete audit of the public debt and other measures to correct conditions which were declared to have led to duplication of government bonds, some with fraudulent purpose, and the falsification of records, has been submitted by a majority of the house committee which investigated charges of irregularities in the bureau of engraving and printing.

Declaring that the proportion of the bond duplications which resulted from fraud is "not yet determined," the committee majority added that the report of the treasury relative to the matter is "incomplete, contradictory and evasive."

Representative Strong, Republican, Kansas, in a separate minority report found no basis at all for the majority conclusions holding that while there had been duplication of bonds he believed none was fraudulent or suspicious.

The majority report declared that duplicate bonds totalling 2,314,000 pairs ranging in denomination from $50 to $10,000 had been redeemed to July 1, 1924. To its charge that there had been duplicate payments of bonds stolen by employees from treasury at intervals and circulated, the report added that the extent of such thefts could not be ascertained because of ineffectual methods and faulty accounting.

FARM RELIEF BY UNCLE SAM FADES AGAIN

Congress Hasn't Time to Pass Measure in Last Minute Legislative Jam

MEANS DELAY FOR YEAR

Bank "Laxity" Law, and Liquor Measures Also Go Over, Perhaps to December

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright 1925 by Post Pub. Co.
Washington—The farmer loses again—at least so far as legislation for his relief is concerned.

Just as in the closing days of the session last June farm measures became jammed against one another so today the relief bills seem to be slated for the legislative morgue. There isn't time—the usual excuse at the end of session—to frame a compromise, according to the leaders. Besides there are a few filibusters in the offing against Muscle Shoals and other measures.

For a bill to be killed in the next 48 hours means more than usual because President Coolidge has announced that he will not call an extra session. Congress when reconvened in regular session in December probably gets started till after the first of the year so it may be said that all important legislation will be postponed for one year—the longest postponement experienced in the first year of a presidential term in many years.

DON'T LIKE HASTE

Some of the bills that will be sidetracked are in a sense too important to be hurried through anyhow. The McFadden bill for instance to amend the federal reserve act has been the subject of much discussion among bankers and there is divided opinion among some of them though the objective has been praised by many of the leaders in finance who think American banking facilities will be assisted if national banks are enabled to do as they please. On the other hand, some critics point out that there is now a "competition in laxity" and that instead of reducing the national banks to the standards of state banks, the latter should be improved by strengthening state laws.

The Crampton bill to make the prohibition of independent of the bureau of internal revenue which is already ready with income tax work would ordinarily pass but the "wets" are not interested in making prohibition enforcement too effective. The mere threat of a filibuster is enough in cases like these to dissuade the leaders from seeking to force a measure through because essential time would be wasted and nothing would be passed. There are some measures to which little objection is made and it will require most of the time left between now and noon March 4 to get them considered and acted upon.

COOLIDGE FAVORS REST

Every piece of legislation that fails makes an added reason for the call of a special session. Mr. Coolidge has the idea that the country wants a rest which they too want. If public opinion—or rather the interested groups—can bring enough pressure to bear they may force an extra session in October or the first of November.

Senator Borah insists an extra session should be called at once to aid the farmer. Until recently the country could always fall back on the War Finance corporation in an agricultural emergency. This body now has been liquidated and the sum of $70,000,000 remains to be collected. Should the nation develop a real farm crisis, the president would of course feel compelled to summon congress.

SUPERIOR CITY FATHERS WANT TAX BILL KILLED

By Associated Press

Superior—The city commission went on record Monday as unanimously opposed to the proposed new income tax bill pending before the state legislature. A resolution was proposed petitioning the legislature and the governor to "do what they can to keep the bill from passing."

It is declared in the resolution that a bill would be harmful to the small taxpayers of this part of the state and to business concerns in Superior which could escape the provisions of the bill only by moving to other states.

PUPILS TOUCH WIRE TO DYNAMITE STICK— THEY'RE IN HOSPITAL

Prairie Du Chien—Two students experimenting with a dynamite cap which they attempted to connect to an electric light socket in their room were severely injured Monday.

The students, Eugene Herr and Theodore Grottelman, enrolled in the chemistry department at a local college, attempted to connect wires from the dynamite cap to the live current. The men were taken to a local hospital where physicians said they would be confined for some time.

RIVER BASIN GAME REFUGE NOW ASSURED

House Passes Measure Urged by Western Sportsmen—Goes to President

By Associated Press

Washington, D. C.—A senate bill designed to expedite the creation of a wild game preserve in the upper Mississippi river basin was passed by the house Tuesday and sent to the president.

The house Tuesday also adopted a senate resolution authorizing President Coolidge to appoint delegates to attend the forthcoming pan-American congress on highways at Buenos Aires. An appropriation of $15,000 to defray expenses of the delegation is authorized.

The senate Tuesday approved a house resolution authorizing the secretary of agriculture to waive one-half the grazing fees charged on public lands during 1925.

APPROVE GOALS, PROBE

President Coolidge will respond favorably to a resolution of congress authorizing the appointment of a special commission of three members to investigate Muscle Shoals, Alabama, production on condition that the resolution is referred to him after passage by the house and senate. A house resolution authorizing the creation of the commission has already been adopted.

With all of the regular appropriations bills safely cleared off the legislative jam the senate and house set what was declared to be almost a precedent for both by adjointing without night sessions Monday with only hours remaining before sine die adjournment. The senate called it a day shortly after 7 o'clock, after Senator Pepper, Republican of Pennsylvania, had called up the house branch banking bill as the unfinished business. Senator Curtis of Kansas, the Republican leader, declared "no senator believes this bill can be disposed of" and finally obtained an adjournment until 11 o'clock Tuesday.

BIG DAY'S WORK

The house fixed its convening hour Tuesday at 10 o'clock when it adjourned at 7:30 after completing a round day's work in which a dozen measures were passed under suspension of rules, in addition to acceptance of senate amendments to the rivers and harbors bill and adoption of the conference report on the interior bill, and also joined the house in putting through bill appropriating $10,000,000 for additional hospital facilities for World War veterans.

The only one of the important money bills still held up is the final deficiency measure. The dispute between the senate and house on this measure arose from the elimination in conference of a senate amendment to appropriate $8,000,000 for construction of public buildings through the country, heretofore authorized, the senate refusing to accept the conference report.

ARGUE OVER FRENCH USE

OF TRAINS FOR TROOPS

By Associated Press

Paris—The British ambassador, Lord Curzon, called on Premier Herriot Monday night with reference, it is understood, to the permission given by the French government for the transportation by rail across Syria of Turkish troops sent to repress the revolt in Kurdistan.

France in 1921 gave assurances to England that the use of the railroad would never be granted for Turkish operations against England and the French view is that if the Turkish troops are solely intended for local purposes, England has no ground for objection.

BADGER G. O. P. TUNES UP FOR RACE IN 1926

Appleton Men Take Part in Meeting of Republicans in Oshkosh

PRAISE FOR COOLIDGE

Commend Old Guard Senators for "Giving the Gate" to Senator LaFollette

Oshkosh—About a dozen Outagamie "old line Republicans" attended the statewide meeting here Monday when President Coolidge was lauded for reducing taxes and congress was praised for refusing to recognize La Follette Progressives as real Republicans. Plans were made for a statewide organization which will sponsor a convention in the spring of 1926 to endorse candidates for United States senator and for state officers. About 500 delegates attended the meeting which was held in Armory B.

Among the Outagamie men in attendance were Seymour Gmeiner, J. D. Steele, F. J. Harwood, G. E. Buchanan, David Smith, Charles Wolf, Mark Collin, F. W. Grogan, R. M. Radsch, George Pledier and W. H. Zuehlke.

Timothy Burke, Green Bay, former state senator, was chosen permanent chairman of the convention. The work of outlining a constitution and bylaws for an organization of conservative Republicans of the state was left to a committee of 11 consisting of W. S. Goodland, Racine; Thomas M. Turner, Waupun; J. C. Hill, Dodgeville; William L. Piepohl, Milwaukee; John E. Fitzgibbon, Milwaukee; J. N. Timmermore, Omro; T. P. Abel, Sparta; Anna M. Wende, Wausau; Arthur Fontaine, Green Bay; R. H. Larrabee, Chippewa Falls, and Kirk L. Miles, Ashland.

STARS WITH VILLOP

The convention started off with a whomp by adopting a resolution reaffirming allegiance to the national G. O. P. platform and praising President Coolidge's economy and efficiency program and efforts to reduce federal taxes.

That was followed by a message of greeting to Mr. Coolidge.

"Several hundred enthusiastic Wisconsin Republicans in conference assembled, send greetings on the occasion of your inauguration as president of the United States," said the telegram.

The message was a dig at Gov. Blaine for daring not to represent the state at the inaugural in Washington.

William L. Harding, former governor of Iowa, was the principal speaker Monday afternoon. He delivered an old fashioned whomp kind of a Republican speech which pleased the delegates.

NOT A DISSENTER

The resolution commending Senator Republicans for relieving Senator LaFollette was introduced by Republicans of the Second Congressional district and adopted without a dissenting vote.

Here is the resolution: "We heartily endorse the action of the Republican organization of the United States senate and house of representatives in refusing to recognize as Republicans those who became affiliated with the third party movement in its attempt to disrupt the Republican party in the last presidential campaign. We believe that Republicans should be called Republicans and that third party adherents should adopt their own name."

William A. Clark, Montana Politician and Copper King, Pneumonia Victim

By Associated Press

New York—William A. Clark, 86, former senator from Montana and pioneer in the copper mining industry, died in his fifth home Monday night of pneumonia, following a cold contracted a few days ago.

Mr. Clark, who was president of the United Verde Copper company, maintained a residence in Butte, Mont., his home city, in addition to one here.

An idea of his wealth is given by the fact that as far back as 1893 he refused $50,000,000 for one of his copper mines. This rise to wealth was during a career which included the occupations of farmer's helper, school teacher, law student, miner, prospector, banker and art collector. Mr. Clark's widow was Anna LaChapelle, a Canadian physician's daughter whom he met in his prospecting days.

Crowder, Cuba government officials and a guard of honor, left Santiago, DeCuba, Monday for Havana according to dispatches from that city. Gen. Pershing was given a reception at the city hall and visited San Juan Hill and other points of interest near Santiago.

The dispatches say that Gen. Pershing telegraphed the Venado Tennis club in Havana, accepting the club's offer of a banquet in his honor.

Interrogated by a reporter on the 150 of Times question the general said it was his personal opinion that the treaty would be passed and Cuba had rights to the island, according to El Mundo Tuesday morning.

Council of Ambassadors Will Demand Compliance With Versailles Treaty

TRAINS MEN, BUILDS GUNS

Report Made by French General Says German Staff Has World War Strength

By Associated Press

Paris—The diplomatic negotiations arising from the report of the allied military mission of control on Germany's violations of the disarmament clauses in the treaty of Versailles, bringing sharply to the front the question of the future security of France and Belgium entered an active phase Tuesday. It came with the presentation to the council of ambassadors of the allied war committee's report on the state of Germany's armaments and armed forces.

Marshal Foch, who presented the report had a long talk with Premier Herriot before the ambassadors met and the Marquis of Crewe, the British ambassador, called on the French premier just after the ambassadors' adjournment. These visits gave added importance to the council meeting which was one of the briefest the ambassadors ever held.

ASK FOR IDEAS

After hearing Marshal Foch, the council asked that the allied war committee "make suggestions" which it believes will be capable of assuring the disarmament of Germany according to the treaty of Versailles. This is understood in diplomatic circles as showing that the ambassadors already were convinced that something must be done to oblige Germany to keep her engagements.

The talks Marshal Foch and Lord Curzon had with the premier were partly in reference to the disposition to be made of the French request and partly to consider the question of an interview between M. Herriot and Austen Chamberlain, the British secretary for foreign affairs when Mr. Chamberlain passes through France shortly, either on his way to the league of nations council meeting at Geneva or his way back.

DESCRIBES "MACHINE"

Marshal Foch and his committee, in their written opinion of the military control mission's report, say it shows that the Germans are persistent in their determination to maintain a complete staff of officers for an army such as Germany possessed prior to the World War.

Not only is Germany educating officers to this end, the committee believes, but she is training enough men to supply a strong fighting army is maintaining her facilities for the production of poison gas and possesses not only patterns and molds for the most improved type of cannon but even unfinished tubes which could be converted within a short time into guns ready for use.

NEW SECURITY PACT

London—Tuesday's London newspapers give prominence to Paris reports regarding a new international security pact in which Germany would have a share with Great Britain, France and Belgium, and it is said the cabinet Monday included this in its deliberations.

While nothing final is believed to have been decided considerable progress is said to have been made in the direction indicated.

JAPAN LOOKS ON IMMIGRATION LAW AS SLAP IN FACE

Japanese Students Tell World Forum How Their Country Regards Discrimination

The Japanese immigration law and the international troubles created by it were given a thorough airing at the meeting of the World Outlook Forum Sunday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. The question for discussion was: Is the United States Right in the Immigration Law of 1924? Prof. R. H. Hannum, chairman of the meeting, gave the history of the law as far back as the "gentlemen's agreement" and then presented the American side in favor of it. He was followed by Messrs. Lee, Hayakawa and Shoji, Japanese students at Lawrence college, who presented the Japanese side. About 65 people, the largest number at any forum this year, were in attendance.

LOSE FRIENDSHIP

Mr. Hayakawa explained its effect on the Japanese. The good work of the United States did in the recent flood and earthquake troubles in Japan made the Japanese her friends, but this law more than wiped out this feeling, he said.

Mr. Shoji explained a possible solution. He said he favored a joint high commission of laws and American to cooperate in public work. The Americans should go to Japan and explain their side of the question and vice versa, thus creating public sentiment for their country. Then they should work out a solution favorable to both and continue the gentlemen's agreement.

The debate teams of Appleton high school participated in the discussion and announced that the subject would be debated at Appleton high school March 20. On this date Appleton high school will debate Manitowish here, and Green Bay at Green Bay.

Vaughn Completes 25 Years In The Service Of The City

VETERAN

Twenty-five years of continuous service is the record which Captain P. J. Vaughn of the Appleton police force claims since Sunday and which makes him one of the oldest members in point of service in the employ of the city.

Included in the quarter century of civil service are a year and five months in the fire department which he entered on Mar. 1, 1900. After being transferred to the police department on June 8, 1901, he held positions of patrolman and captain. He has served under three chiefs, Fred Hofer, Michael Garvey and George T. Prim.

Since the reorganization of the department twelve years ago, the office of captain has taken the place of that of assistant chief, and Capt. Vaughn is acting chief in the absence of Chief Prim.

MOVED THREE TIMES

During the years of his service he has seen the force grow from nine men to seventeen men, which is the number that has been maintained for the last six years. In that time the police station has had three locations, first at 631 Oneida-st near the present site of the Western Union office, next on the Midway block and lastly its present location in the fire department building at Washington and Oneida-sts.

When Capt. Vaughn started as patrol driver he worked almost continuously and had only two half days off a week. The five patrolmen took turns at serving as day sergeant from week to week.

Capt. Vaughn still remembers his first arrest. It was made on the first day he was made patrolman. He arrested a drunken man at the corner of E. McKinley and S. Oneida-sts.

The duties of a policeman were somewhat different in those days than the present. At that time the saloons were wide open, there was more public drunkenness and more of the old fashioned professional tramps. Today the department's problems chiefly are check forgers, traffic law violators and moonshiners.

BUYS OWN UNIFORM

The policeman still is required to buy his own uniform, but the city furnishes him with the star, the sash and the flashlight. A slight change has been made in the uniform. The policeman in those days wore the lapel coat instead of the military coat.

ANOTHER CONFLICT OVER ZONING LAW

The Appleton board of appeals on city zoning matters may be called upon to decide a dispute between the city building inspector and Max Schedermayer over a building permit that was refused.

The applicant asked for a permit to erect an addition to his garage on N. Badger-ave to be used as a tire shop, but it was refused on the ground that the building is in a residential district and that the addition would be classed as a building belonging to a commercial and light manufacturing zone. The petitioner desires to have the lot designated a part of the commercial and light manufacturing district. A meeting of the board of appeals may be called this week to decide the matter.

Author Of "Face Of Floor" Tells How It Was Written

BY GENE COHN

New York—"Twas a balmy summer evening, and a goodly crowd was there.

"Which well nigh filled Joe's bar-room on the corner by the square."

There's a soft drink stand today upon the steps of this most quoted bit of verse. And Joe, who started it all—Joe Schmidt was his name—is a fat man now, quite wealthy and he's tryin' to put off death for a few years more by resting in Europe.

He still owns the building where "the vagabond came slowly in and posed upon teh floor." It's a busy corner, just off Greenwich Village, and it's a far cry from the orange-ade emporium and gents furnishing store to "Joe's bar," famed rendezvous for theatrical men back in the '80's.

Hugh D'Arcy, who sprang into international fame by writing "The Face on the Floor" as a sermon to Joe, revisited the scene for the first time in many years on the eve of his 52nd birthday and laughed heartily as he saw the throngs hurrying by and the groups coming up to drink orangeade.

"Well, sir, recited the veteran D'Arcy, "I taught Joe Schmidt a lesson that he will never forget. But the funny part of it is that my poem became propaganda for the prohibitionists, and all I ever intended it to be was a lesson to Joe to be kind to derelicts."

"Certainly I never dreamed that it would bring me fame. Most people think I made a fortune off that poem, but it never brought me a dollar. Everybody that could stole it and then even changed the name to 'The Face on the Barroom Floor.' But that's neither here nor there, now."

"What I want to tell you about is piece was being recited in a hall dozen shows and cafes.

"Another funny thing is that I have met four men in my life who claimed to have written it. So I became famous, and that amuses me a lot now."

"Oh, yes, I've got a birthday coming in a few days and then I'll know when Joe is—for he never fails to send me a birthday message. No—he's never forgotten 'the face.'"

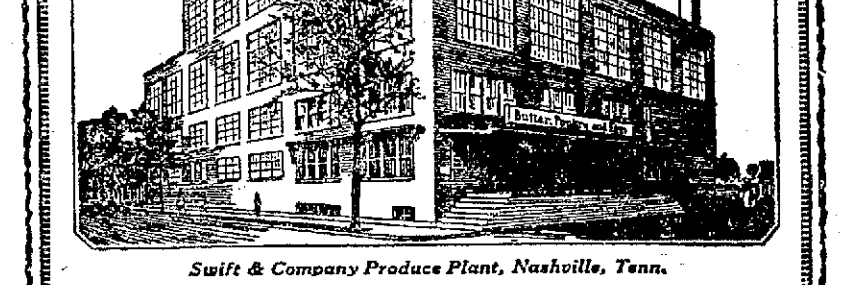

The old man walked to a taxicab and a new crowd of people rushed up to the sidewalk stand and ordered orangeade.

Swift & Company's 1925 Year Book, which has just been issued, tells about our produce plants located in the best farming communities, how we buy cream and produce the best grade of butter, which goes under the Brookfield Brand.

It tells how, in order that nothing may be lost, we use the buttermilk mixed with grain to feed chickens so that they are good enough to carry our famous Premium Milk-Fed Chicken and Golden West Fatted Fowl brands. # EXPECT SPECIAL SESSION TO CUT DOWN TAX BURDEN

Preparations Are Started for Another Slashing of Federal Taxes

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
Washington—More tax reduction probably will be the next Congress' first business.
In fact, indications are there will be a special session to hurry it up. President Coolidge has not yet publicly announced a reversal of his previously expressed determination not to issue an extra call, but Chairman William R. Green of the House Ways and Means committee is known to be planning a start on a reduction program early in the fall. He would hardly be doing this if he hadn't reason for expecting Congress to be in session then.

The general impression is that the national legislators will be summoned together by September at the latest. The fiscal year runs from June 30 to June 30, so that the country is now pretty well on into the current one and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon has a reasonably accurate idea what the surplus will be.

At the present rate it promises to be quite a large one.
OPPOSES EXTRA SESSION
At the end of June it will be known exactly and an additional allowance of about two months for the extra session to frame his recommendations to Congress would bring the time for the lawmakers to take matters in hand at the beginning of autumn.

The president has been very free in saying that he opposed a special session of Congress for the reason that he believed the country was decidedly tired of lawmaking, but it is considered quite likely he feels the taxpayers will be willing to make an exception in favor of laws to reduce the financial burden of government.

Of course, reduction might be permitted to wait until the regular session's opening in December and not a great deal of time would be lost, but it would count out of all proportion to its length, inasmuch as it would prevent the country from feeling the benefit of the lower rates in connection with payment of the fourth installment of the current year's income taxes.

MELLON WANTS REDUCTION
Secretary Mellon, who failed in the sixty-eighth Congress to get the surtax reduction he wanted, will try again in the sixty-ninth.

How well he succeeds will depend on the new batch of legislators. Considering that the administration will have clear majorities in both houses, which was not the case when the secretary's former recommendations were turned down, perhaps there is some reason for believing he will be listened to more respectfully than before.

Nevertheless, politicians point out that congressmen all are well aware that small taxpayers are much more numerous than large ones and that they are apt to get an unfavorable reaction at the polls later on, if they show much consideration to the "big fellows" at the expense of the "small fry."

GREEN BAY AND DE PERE UNITE FOR CELEBRATION

Green Bay and DePere posts of the American Legion are uniting for a joint celebration to be given on the Northeastern Wisconsin fair grounds July 4 and 5, following the same plan as was used by the DePere post in their successful celebration last year.

The celebration is under the jurisdiction of a board of directors consisting of eight legionaires and eight citizens not members of the American Legion, an equal representation being provided from the two cities. The board has entire control of expenses and receipts, and has prepared an expense budget of $4,500, which is the estimated expense of the celebration. Thus far the following appropriations have been made: Races, $1,000; tree acts $800; fireworks, $900.

Efforts will be made toward making the 1925 community enterprise bigger and better than that of 1924. A varied program will be given on both days, Saturday and Sunday, as well as at night. Thomas C. Dwyer, Green Bay, is president of the celebration and Fred M. Smith, DePere, is secretary.

More than 50 years ago the Missouri legislature created the office of county marshal of Jackson county, Mo., for the sole purpose of catching the bandits. The office has just been abolished, showing the speed with which legislatures work.

PREDICTS CAR FOR EVERY U. S. FAMILY

New York — "The number of automobiles that this nation will use at one time will tend to be about equal to the number of families in the population."

Thus does Leonard P. Ayres, famous Cleveland statistician, set the limit of automobiles in the United States at about 27,000,000, the number of families there are in the United States. This number will increase with the increase of population, but not as fast as automobile production has been increasing.

Ayres brought out this point in an address before the Society of Automotive Engineers here.

UNIT OF OWNERSHIP
"The natural unit for automobile ownership for the great mass of our people is the family," he explained, "just as that is the natural unit for the possession of bathtubs and domestic telephones."

"Included in the 27,000,000 families are thousands that will own more than one automobile, and in addition to them are commercial and industrial firms that will use many more thousands."

ONE BALANCE OTHER
"On the other hand, there must be subtracted from them, hundreds of thousands of families that cannot own even a single car."

"It seems probable that the maximum number of automobiles that this country can use is not far from equal to the number of families and that less gnarl reawneild . . . that selling new cars will become progressively more difficult as that number is approached."

With 17,000,000 autos in use today, there is quite a way to go to fill the demand set by Colonel Ayers.

Misery Stopped Instantly The Head is cleared

When the nose is clogged with cold or catarrh it means a local germ attack. The treatment should be local. Combat those germs, clear the nostrils, stop the cold.

The way is Ely's Cream Balm. Put a little in the nostrils and breathe it. Note how quickly fumes clear the head.

Then remember that. Next time use the Balm at the first sign of a cold. Don't let it get a start.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. Quell the cold at once, end misery. Then keep it on hand to stop future colds at the start.

ANOTHER LOSS TO STATE

The Fairbanks-Morse company is an important manufacturing institution of Wisconsin. Its main plant is located at Beloit. It has just declined a proposal to locate a branch plant in Madison, although it has in mind a development of its business. This, however, will take place outside of Wisconsin. In a letter referring to the Madison proposal the Fairbanks-Morse company says it is not "interested in any further investments in the state of Wisconsin."

Not long ago a large manufacturing institution of Beloit moved across the line into Illinois in order to avoid the excessive taxes of Wisconsin. Still, the politicians in Madison who are trying to increase taxes and to pour more of the people's money into an already over-flowing state treasury, have the affront to stand up at hearings and say that Wisconsin's tax policies are not hurting the state's industry, that it is of no consequence and that the stories about prejudice against investments here are fabrication. Kenosha and Racine know to their sorrow that they are not fabrications; so does Appleton, and many other cities.

Not one thing has yet been advanced in support of the administrations bill to revise taxes upward that will stand the test of facts, experience and economic law. The bill is the creation of politicians to get votes, and nothing else. The more it is analyzed the more it is shown to be a covert appeal to class prejudice, nor does the bill cover up the fact that those persons whose approval was counted upon to sustain the governor will pay the freight.

The thousands of employees in Wisconsin who from time to time are out of work because of shut-downs, etc., the thousands of employees whose hope of increased wages is dimmed by the close margin on which their employers are operating, the thousands of consumers who want to see the cost of living reduced—all these should have a keen appreciation of policies which restrict and embarrass our industrial development. They should have a real understanding of the effects of the administration's proposed tax increase.

FRIEDRICH EBERT

The death of President Friedrich Ebert of Germany is a great loss to the democratic movement. He had been for Germany through her post-war period the mainstay of her republican form of government. With a man less strong and less resourceful, the republic might not have lasted. It was put to a terrible test by the Ruhr occupation, and it has always had to fight for its existence between the monarchists on the one hand and the bolsheviks on the other. Certain it is that Herr Ebert saved Germany from the soviet catastrophe.

He proved to be the right man for Germany through one of the greatest trials a nation was ever called upon to face, for it probably is a fact that socially and politically Germany has been harder put since the war than she was during its prosecution. Although a socialist in name Ebert never tried to put his theories into practice. The responsibilities of his position turned him into a conservative. He was a statesman in the true sense of the word, and his name will be cherished by lovers of free institutions not only in Germany but throughout Europe. No man did so much as he to bring Germany back to a position of influence in the world and restore her to a basis of self-support and self-respect.

Now that he is gone the political situation once more becomes dangerous. There does not seem to be so much to fear from bolshevism, but the monarchists have been working ceaselessly for a return to power. The republican element is divided into groups. Probably a coalition government of some form will be necessary if the monarchists are not to prevail. No greater calamity could come to Germany at this particular time than the restoration of monarchy. It would undoubtedly cause complications in the reparations settlement and would upset the plans of both England and France relating to military self-protection.

It may be that ultimately the German people will prefer an emperor to a president. It may be that through monarchy lies union and strength to a larger degree than any other form. However this may be, for the present Germany's interests and those of Europe as they touch peace and economic recuperation lie in a preservation of the republic. Further political trials doubtless await her. The events of the next few weeks will be almost tragic in their importance and will be full of the deepest significance as to her future.

THE POSTAL BILL SIGNED

The president has decided the question of signing the postal salary increase bill in the affirmative, notwithstanding his objections to the original bill which he vetoed were not wholly met. Mr. Coolidge from the first insisted that if the pay of postoffice employees were increased, additional revenue would have to be provided to meet it. While it cannot be figured out accurately, the increase in postal rates incorporated in the bill provides on the face additional revenue of $59,000,000, which is from $9,000,000 to $10,000,000 less than the salary advance. This is quite a little blow at the president's economy program, and on top of it is the additional million and a half which congress has voted for its own pocket.

It finally dwindled down to a choice of doing justice to a large number of underpaid postoffice employees or of standing rigidly on an administrative principle and denying them their due. It was the senate which stood in the way of Mr. Coolidge's desire to make postal service pay its way. It is always the senate which blocks the purposes of the president. He got as large a concession from the senate as was possible to secure in this instance. We think the public generally will approve his action in signing the bill, although some of the provisions are objectionable.

A very substantial increase in postal rates goes into effect. Rates on newspapers are nearly doubled. We do not think the rates for various classes of postal service are properly balanced or adjusted, for the simple reason that they are the creation of political aims rather than of scientific business calculation. Furthermore, it is an undeniable fact that better administration of the postoffice department would result in savings of many millions of dollars annually, to the benefit of mail users. However, the postoffice department is a part of our political overhead, and we do not seem as a nation to care very much about what that political overhead is or about reducing it.

LESS INSANITY

Mental disease in New York is decreasing. Insanity rate in 1921 was 67.9 per 100,000 of population, against 69.1 in 1923. The 1917 rate, 73.6, was highest in the state's history.

Drug insanity also is lessening. Nineteen new cases were admitted to institutions last year, against 22 in 1923 and 26 in 1922.

But against these figures the state hospital commission shows an increase of alcoholic insanity. Last year 373 such victims were taken into institutions. In 1923 the number was 276; in 1920, 122.

This is due, no doubt, to the low grade liquor purveyed by our bootleg industry. The problem of prohibition enforcement is a tough one, particularly when so many hold the law in such light regard.

Some people seem to think all people are a great menace to civilization and should be destroyed.

Put a mirror in your shop window and people will pause to reflect.

ATROPHIC RHINITIS.

Chronic suppurative ethmoiditis, the formation of pus or matter in the ethmoid cells, bony air spaces in the skull between the eyes, usually begins with repeated attacks of what is unjustly called "the common cold" in childhood, and this chronic purulent ethmoid disease is probably the commonest cause of atrophic rhinitis. Atrophic rhinitis is characterized by abnormally roomy nasal passages (for both mucous membrane and bony walls are thinned and wasted) and by more or less purulent secretion and crusts. In some cases of atrophic rhinitis there is also a fever, and then the disease is called eozema. It becomes established in the teens, if the nasal troubles of childhood have been thoroughly neglected.

Although parents do not realize it, many cases of chronic purulent ethmoiditis are cured by the removal of diseased tonsils and adenoids. A fact which parents do appreciate is that a chronic nasal discharge sometimes persists long after the removal of tonsils and adenoids, and often a proper examination of the child's nose will show that this is from ethmoiditis. The great frequency of ethmoiditis in childhood is indicated by a special investigation of 50 children who came to a clinic for the removal of tonsils, 41 of them having diseased ethmoid sinuses.

Because of the abnormally broad, roomy nasal chambers the victim of atrophic rhinitis cannot effectively clear the nose by blowing. And if the secretions are not carefully removed there is a tendency to develop eozema. Surgical procedures have been devised and carried out with some success, to narrow the nasal passages. But as a rule the only surgical interference that is warranted in atrophic rhinitis is the opening and drainage of any infected sinuses.

Irrigation of the nasal cavity by means of a suction apparatus and pump such as most nose and throat specialists have the alkaline solution entering one nostril and coming out of the other, is an effective way of cleansing away the secretions. Some such arrangement is generally necessary for daily use at home by the patient himself, after he has been instructed in the technique by the physician. Jamizers and nasal douches are of little use for clearing the nasal passages in atrophic rhinitis, though they may be useful for applying medicaments after a proper irrigation.

A recent remedy of some value is cane sugar, which is dissolved in water to be sprayed in the nose with the atomizer, or in stronger solution poured in with a nasal douche or spoon. To spray the nose, twice a day, following the cleansing irrigation, a solution of a rounded teaspoonful of sugar in two ounces of boiled water may be used. There is a double effect from the sugar treatment:

(1) It favors the growth of friendly germs in the nasal passages and their active growth tends to diminish the growth of the pus producing germs; (2) it induces a freer watery secretion in the nose.

Chlorin gas treatment is of some value in atrophic rhinitis, or a similar effect may be obtained by wetting a turkish towel with Dakin's solution or a 1 percent chlorin solution, such as zonal, knotting the lower end to prevent dripping, and suspending the towel a few inches before the face and inhaling the vapor freely through the nose for a half hour a day, enough to irritate slightly and stimulate secretion.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Beginning Parkinsonian Tremor.

I am 64, but pretty sound, according to my physician. Six months ago I developed a tremor of my left arm and hand, which is quite noticeable with any excitement, though at times absent. I have for years taken a cold tub bath every morning, and I have kidded myself that it benefits me. What would you say? (S. L.)

Answer.—Maybe the thought of the morning tremor begins in the left hand area. Baths for the strong, I say, and especially cold ones. I prefer morning air baths. Your tremor sounds like the beginning of Parkinson's disease, a gutta serena, shaking palsy, in some cases the skillful use of parathyroid hormone and hyocin has given much benefit.

We suppose that March which came in like the proverbial lion will go out like a lamb. It is a good deal like a lefthanded pitcher, plenty of everything, and no control.

At Oshkosh there is a filling station which supposedly displays the name of the owner, "August March." But you can't fool us.

Gust, who is a Swede, and John, who is a Norwegian, were arguing about the supremacy of their respective nationalities. "And don't forget what the Swedes did at the battle of Copenhagen," triumphed "Huh!" sneered John.

"Huh!" sneered John. "What battle was that?" Just then the Yankee with an impatient move growled "Snuff, snuff."

See Twining
Of Hebrew
And Irish

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington, D. C.—Official Washington is rarely puzzled. It is never at a loss whatever proposal may be presented to it, whether it be application for immigration laws to permit fleas or determining the most courteous manner of refusing to consider the cancellation of a foreign debt.

Quite recently however, it was temporarily nonplussed by the fact that it cards beautifully printed, on excellent paper stock, but totally incomprehensible. The postage stamps on the envelopes indicated that they had been mailed in Ireland—but what was the nature of the message? The language was strange, unfamiliar to the government translators. The letters composing the words looked something like Greek and a wee bit like Hebrew.

Inasmuch as the cards were mailed on the "old sod," it was concluded that they were printed in the Gaelic tongue, which is a new problem for Uncle Sam. The Irish Free State might be communicating invitations, congratulations or condemnations—no one knew. The government departments numbered few employees who ever heard of such a tongue as Gaelic. Those with Irish names, with but few exceptions, had no knowledge of the language that served their ancestors for more than two thousand years. The information possessed by the few exceptions was generally limited to a few phrases of greeting or defiance. At length, however, one was found who furnished the necessary translation of the message, a sea-splashing from the Irish Free State. So has one of the oldest of spoken languages, among the most ancient of parent tongues, fallen into disuse. Even in Ireland except in outlying districts, remote from the larger cities and towns, it has not been spoken for a century or more.

LANGUAGE DEEPLY STUDIED

English laws forbade its use at first, and later the obvious advantage of a common language for the sister states paved the way for a general acceptance of English. At the very time when this adoption was taking place, the learned men of the British universities were pursuing their researches into the origins of the well-known abandoned tongue. In Trinity College, Dublin university, founded by Queen Elizabeth, are preserved the most ancient manuscripts of great antiquity, many of them as yet untranslated. These are the records of the Irish race, whose historical and literary backgrounds have aroused the interest and become the life studies of many eminent men, particularly in the universities of continental Europe.

When the nonplussed recipients of the cards from the Irish Free State sought assistance and enlightenment it was quite unlikely that services of any Hebrew were requisitioned. It might have been considered a clever thing to do, something of a joke. Have not thousands laughed at the confusion of letters of "Ab's Irish Rose"? Have not millions chuckled over once or twice the seemingly irreconcilable contrasts and peculiarities of the Hebrew and the Celtic?

Merry wags are quite prone to such Cohen or "my Jewish friend Mr. Cohen" or "my Jewish friend Mr. Murphy." The sight of an obviously "Jewish" individual pretending to possess a Hebrew journal is calculated to bring a smile to the lips of any but the most morose. That there is an actual similarity between the two and particularly between their languages is a fact usually overlooked and scarcely ever adverted in a serious vein.

SHOWS SIMILARITY

In 1822 Lieut. Col. Charles Vallancy, L. L. D., an English etymologist published a book with the title "An Essay on the Antiquity of the Irish Language." In the course of his dissertation the writer said:

"On a collation of Irish with the Celtic, Punic, Phoenician and Hebrew languages, the strongest affinity (nay, a perfect identity in very many words) will appear. It may therefore be deemed a Punic-Celtic compound. The Irish is consequently the most copious language extant, as from the Hebrew proceeded the Phoenician, from the Phoenician, the Carthaginian or Punic was derived as Latin, Dorian, Etruscan; and from these was formed Latin. Irish is therefore a language of the utmost importance and most valuable to be acquired by antiquaries and etymologists."

A lengthy and impressive list of words might be given to demonstrate the Punic-Celtic-Hebrew affinities. A few will suffice. Words meaning lord, father, son, fire, water, wealth, coin and assembly, an interval of time, a man, counsel or advice and many others are practically identical in spelling and pronunciation. The Hebrew to mean "brith" meaning a covenant has its Gaelic equivalent in "breit."

Long has the brick been referred to as "Irish confetti," and a fish as a delightful diversion to the astute of an Irishman. Equally well as it fitted with the Jew are words "enough" wealth and three employed in trading. When it becomes evident that the Irish and the Jew speak languages so similar that the terms for food and drink, parent and child, love and prosperity, battle and bull (or fighting) material, God and man and nobility are identical, the in fact of a common origin, a close relationship and a strong affinity become indisputable.

Averts Social War

MISS MARGUERITE WHITE

For the first time in the mad carnival history of New Orleans a debutante has failed to win the highly coveted honor of Queen of the Mardi Gras. For weeks the most beautiful debutantes have been appearing in gorgeous costumes at numerous balls in the hope that the secret organization which picks the queen would be attracted by their loveliness. So keen was the competition that a social war was threatened. To avert strife among the smart set, the secret committee selected Miss Marguerite White, who, because of her youth and inclinations, has never been presented formally to society. And while there are tears of disappointment in the eyes of many a debutante, Miss White tonight rules over the masked thousands at the great ball which concludes this unique festival.

SIDE PAINED HER TERRIBLY

After Childbirth Women Should Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Restore Normal Conditions

St. Louis, Missouri. — "After my first child was born I was bothered with a pain in my side which became more severe the longer I let it go. It was terrible. I often had to lie down to get any relief. I was in a weak and run-down condition, and my side seemed to be the point for all the pain. I was this way for three months, then I read your little booklet and the testimonials it contained, and started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I could feel relief after the first day, and I have found it to do all you claim for it. I had to repeat it again after my second child was born. I sure will recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends." — Mrs. N. R. LAYTON, 2726A University St., St. Louis, Mo.

If you are suffering from any weakness which causes such symptoms as pains in the side and back and nervous feelings, give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial now. Do not continue to feel all run-down and half sick when relief is at hand. Sold by druggists everywhere.

K. OF C. LETTER SCHOOL EXTENDED TO ALL MEMBERS

Kaukauna Council Interested in Correspondence Instruction

Kaukauna—Inspired by the success of its correspondence school free to service men, the supreme board of directors of the Knights of Columbus has voted to extend the program of correspondence instruction to members of the order upon a tuition at cost basis. As a result any member of Kaukauna council, Knights of Columbus, can take up at almost any subject under the sun at a nominal cost.

Any one of these courses offered will fit the student for a definite life work. The opportunity is being brought to the attention of local K. of C. The school for former service men was established in February, 1922 and enrollment was in four subjects only. During the last year the number of subjects has been increased to seventy-five and in June 1923 more than 15,000 students had been enrolled.

The fees for any course do not run more than $15. People who do not have time nor money to continue their education in school are taking advantage of the chance to broaden their learning.

Among the courses being offered are accounting and auditing, several different languages, architectural and mechanical drawing, business law, railway mail service, traffic management, show card writing and design, advertising, electricity, engineering and a dozen and one other studies which can develop a man into an expert.

The plan of the Knights of Columbus is to provide education without profit to its members. Non-members are not being received under any terms.

What to Do For A Persistent Cough

Everybody knows how foolish and dangerous it is to let a cough hang on and on. The proper thing to do is to stop it—quick—and for this purpose there is nothing better than that great old home remedy that our parents and grandparents used so successfully—Dr. Bell's Pine Tar Honey. It often relieves a severe cough overnight. Doctors say there is really nothing like pine tar to quickly loosen and remove the phlegm and congestion which are the direct cause of the coughing, while the honey not only gives a pleasant taste but helps soothe the soreness and irritation.

But be sure you get the genuine Dr. Bell's Pine Tar Honey and not some substitute. Dr. Bell's is the original, and has been known for many years as the best. It is scientifically compounded of just the right proportions of pine which the best doctors have found to aid in bringing quick relief. Contains no opiates or other harmful drugs, so can be given even to young children—fine for spasmodic cough. If you want the best home remedy in the drug store, get Dr. Bell's. 30c at all good druggists.

WAUPACA CURLING TOURNEY MAY END TIED STANDINGS

Extra Game May Be Needed to Decide Championship of City Association

Waupaca — Waupaca curlers have only three games to play with a race that becomes tighter every time a match is played. The way the teams are scheduled to play, a tie could result in the final standing. It is understood, however, should such a thing happen the tied teams will play for the championship of the association. After the games are completed a bonspiel will start and all players are on their toes for the event.

STAGE And SCREEN

"THAT FRENCH LADY" FROM STAGE PLAY

Shirley Mason's latest starring photoplay, "That French Lady," which comes to the New Bijou Theatre Wednesday-Thursday is an adaptation of W. J. Hurlbut's stage play in which Elsie Ferguson starred several seasons ago. The play was the center of dramatic attention for some time because of its unusual situations and the powerful emotional values of its theme is one of the finest in which Miss Mason has appeared. She portrays a vivacious French woman, an author, and her petite personality fits in admirably with the character. The story deals with the problem of free love. Inex DePierrefond, played by Miss Mason, is an exponent of the theory and the manner in which she is won from her rivals makes for an interesting, dramatic photoplay.

In the supporting cast are Theodore Von Eltz, Harold Goodwin, Charles Coleman, Kate Lester and Lucy Beaumont.

ENGLISHMAN PLAYS ROLE OF ROOSEVELT

To an Englishman falls the privilege of portraying for the screen the character of the greatest American of modern times—Theodore Roosevelt.

The Englishman who "plays" Roosevelt in "Sundown," Earl Hudson's epic of the fast fading West, now being shown at the Elite Theatre, is a character actor who bears a striking resemblance to the late President.

One of the most inspiring moments in this First National picture is the incident when a delegation of cattle owners visit Roosevelt at the White House in an endeavor to get him to use his influence with Congress to stop the granting of homestead acreage.

Symbolic of the theme of "Sundown" is the great President's answer: "You can stretch your cowboy and cattle a mile deep from Canada to Mexico, but you cannot stop the advance of civilization."

More than 100,000 head of cattle were photographed during the filming of the picture, the scenes of which were taken in Texas, Arizona, New Mexico, California and Mexico.

The cast includes such film luminaries as Bessie Love, Hobart Bosworth, Roy Stewart, Charles Murray, Charles Sellon, Arthur Hoyt, Charles Crockett and Jero Austin.

"THE EARLY BIRD" AT APPLETON THEATRE THURSDAY TO SATURDAY

Take our advice! See Johnny Hines in "The Early Bird," for it is about the funniest feature that has ever graced the Hialto, enacted by one of the most likeable stars we have yet had the pleasure of talking about. Johnny Hines, in our estimation, is the best cure-all for human ailments we can recommend. Funny, isn't it, how certain pictures so please one that it is really difficult to pick it apart for reviewing purposes but regardless of what we might say, or wish to say about this production, please get this one thing straight—"The Early Bird" is there, and you can look at it any way you please and come to the same conclusion. It possesses a clean, wholesome comedy of such great variety, that there is never a dull moment. The speed with which the story carried out does not diminish from beginning to end. In this respect it is similar to the early characterizations of Douglas Fairbanks, for at the picture's end, one leaves the theatre with a spirit of invigoration that is priceless. You just want to go out and do something—and you want to do that something in mighty snappy fashion—just as the breezy Hines does. If ever a motion picture production can enervate tired feelings and do away with faded spirits, that production is "The Early Bird." Johnny is cast in the role of a milkman who hurdes all obstacles in real snappy style with no end of uproarious situations as the inevitable result. Somehow Johnny makes life seem like a sweet song and we like him all the more for it. His characterization is that of a go-getting American youth who knows no obstacle and makes you believe that there is nothing you can't accomplish if you go after it hard enough. For this interpretation we all owe Johnny a debt of gratitude, for he inadvertently preached a sermon that is far-reaching in its effect, and the beauty of it is that he does it all in fun.

This big spotted cat, who can't change his spots, is certainly an elegant looking fellow. While, frankly, he's not a vegetarian, he isn't as black as some have painted him. All was serene at Camp Devens, Mass. A regiment was on review. The general and his staff were dignified and stately as became their rank. Companies marched past, perfectly aligned, with swinging stride and "eyes right." And then it happened. Amule with no thought of decorum or dignity, but solely governed by his own mulish ideas, broke loose. He passed in review at right, but not with "eyes right," nor at the sedate pace demanded by the regulations. In fact he went so fast and so close that the general, himself did a quick "guide right." Wonder if the mule got "six months K. P.?"

UNCLE SAM OFFERS ARMY TRAINING TO OUTAGAMIE YOUTHS

Application Blanks for Camp
Custer Training Can Be Obtained Here

Men and boys who wish to spend a 30-day vacation in a military training camp with all necessary expenses paid, may secure application blanks for membership in the Citizens Military Training camp, to be held at Camp Custer, Mich., July 25 to August 21, from Alfred Bradford, county chairman, at Bradford and Bradford law offices in the Hyde building. The camp is conducted by the war department under the national defense act, the basic law which covers all military training. Applications can be made up to July 1. Any applicant who returns his blank later than that date takes a chance that the quota is filled, according to Mr. Bradford.

Camp Custer is a large open camp located three miles from Battle Creek, sixteen miles from Kalamazoo and within a few hours ride from Detroit and Chicago. The camp is in charge of regular army officers and the assistant instructors are reserve officers from Wisconsin, Michigan and Illinois called out especially for the work. Every one of the instructors is a college graduate and many of them are West Point graduates, making an exceptionally fine group of teachers for the young men. Several are veterans of the World War. For some time the camp had little support from the people of the country, but now after several years of successful operation it is highly endorsed. This year congress appropriated more money than ever before for the maintenance and operation of the camp and all of it will be needed to take care of the large number of mid-west boys and men who will attend. Mr. Bradford said.

ORGANIZE COUNTY
Outagamie sends from 15 to 20 youths to the camp annually. Each county is organized extensively for the work in order to maintain interest in the army and to give a number of young men elementary training however, a large part being devoted to massed athletics such as baseball, football and basketball and military games. Swimming instructions occupy part of the time.

Wisconsin carried off practically every prize in military drill and athletics in competition with men from Michigan and Illinois last year, Mr. Bradford said.

Two C. M. T. C. clubs have been organized in the county, one at Kaukauna and one at Lawrence college. Boys from several states are members of the college group.

GET COMMISSIONS
The government pays the expenses of those attending, consisting of fare to and from camp, uniforms, food and medical attention, but the soldiers receive no pay. In order to give former service men an opportunity to earn a commission, the age limit has been extended so that men between 17 and 31 may now enter the camp. An ex-service man with nine months service in the world war, and a high school education or its equivalent may win a commission by taking the Blue course at the training camp. The elementary or basic course for beginners consists largely of small arm practice, such as marksmanship with pistol, rifle, etc., and a little machine gun work, Mr. Bradford said.

The object of the camps is to bring together young men of high type from all sections of the country on a common basis of equality and under the most favorable conditions of outdoor life; to stimulate and promote citizenship, patriotism, and Americanism; and through expert physical training, athletic coaching and military training to benefit the young men individually and to bring them to realize their obligations to their country.

There are four courses in instruction: Basic, Red, White and Blue. Applicants for the Red and White, and the blue courses may select the branch of service in which they are to be trained. Selections will be observed if the facilities for training in the branch selected exist in the corps area, but the number assigned to each branch will be in proper military proportions.

A description of the course follows:
a. The Basic course.—For physically fit male citizens of the United States, 17 to 24 years of age. Previous military training not necessary. Applicants must possess average general intelligence, be able to read and write English, and be of good moral character.

This course provides preliminary military training including physical development, athletics, school of the soldier, squad and company drill, rifle marksmanship, first aid, camp sanitation, personal hygiene, military courtesy, meaning of discipline, and studies in citizenship. Those taking this course will be given an opportunity to qualify for the next higher, or Red Course. Attendance at this course does not constitute any present or future contract of enlistment in the army of the United States.

b. The Red course.—For physically fit male citizens of the United States, 17 to 25 years of age. Applicants must be graduates of the Basic course or have had military training equivalent thereto. must possess average general intelligence; be able to read and write English, and be of good moral character.

This course provides training in different branches of the Army: Infantry, Field Artillery, Cavalry, Coast Artillery, Corps of Engineers, and Signal Corps. Advanced instruction in the subjects covered in the Basic course is included.

Those who take this course will be given the opportunity to qualify in the same branch for the next higher, or White course. Attendance at this course does not constitute any present or future contract of enlistment.

This course provides training in different branches of the Army: Infantry, Field Artillery, Cavalry, Coast Artillery, Corps of Engineers and Signal Corps for the purpose of qualifying candidates as specialists and non-commissioned leaders. This course is open to candidates who have completed the Red course and who have been recommended to pursue the White Course, to selected citizens who have had military training equivalent to the Red Course, and to selected enlisted men of the Army of the United States.

Those who attend will be given the further opportunity to qualify in the same branch for the next higher, or Blue course, but it will be required that they possess, or show that they later will possess, the mental and physical qualifications to become officers in the Officers' Reserve Corps. This requirement will be fully explained to all candidates before or during the White course. Attendance at this course does not constitute any present or future contract of enlistment in the Army of the United States.

d. The Blue course.—Age limits 19 to 31. Qualifications for admission are as follows:
(a) Applicants must be warrant officers or enlisted men who are physically fit and who have served at least nine months in the National Guard, organized reserves, or regular army.

(b) Applicants must have not less than a complete high school education or its equivalent, and must possess the personality, appearance, tact, bearing and general adaptability which fit them for further training in the Blue course to take mental and physical examination to be officers of the Officers' Reserve Corps.

STATE WITH KIND TAXATION POLICY BECKONS PLANTS

Appleton Industry Receives Tax-free Proposal from Louisville, Ky.

Besieged by propaganda from many states, Appleton is as much in danger of losing industries as other cities of Wisconsin which are suffering from the hostile attitude of the legislature toward the manufacturer.

The letter explains the offers that are advanced for moving out of Wisconsin. It reads in part:

"We have noted with much interest the present attitude of the Wisconsin legislature regarding the proposed tax laws of your state.

"We understand that in 1925 a promise was made by the tax commission that the personal tax would be used as an offset and that ultimately it would be abolished, but up to the present time it is still in force, and another promise is now made that intangible assets will not be taxed.

"According to reports, the proposed law will increase taxes $13,000,000 and reduce present net profits of one and two-thirds cents on every dollar another four-tenths cents, thereby adding additional burden on the manufacturer and ultimately on the laboring man, causing much dissatisfaction and unrest among that class.

LAWS ARE LIBERAL
"In contrast to the proposed tax laws in Wisconsin, we earnestly call your attention to the existing tax laws in Louisville and Kentucky. Our laws are modern and liberal. Under the city ordinances new industries are exempt from all city taxes for a period of five years, and under the state law, machinery, raw material and material in process of manufacture are exempt from local taxes thereafter, the state tax only being paid. These exemptions amount to a great deal and contribute materially to the increasing of dividends.

"In actual returns to stockholders the saving in taxes through a Louisville location will add approximately 2 per cent to the earned dividends over a ten year period and almost that amount annually afterwards."

The Difficulty of Starting Reforms will be discussed at the meeting of the B. Y's club of the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday night. The meeting will be preceded by a supper at the Y. M. C. A. cafeteria at 6:15. George F. Werner general secretary, meets with this group.

To relieve catarrh or check a head cold, melt a little Vicks in a spoon and inhale the vapors of Camphor, Menthol, Eucalyptus, Thyme and Turpentine. Also put a little in each nostril and sniff well back up the head.

Another way is to heat a tin cup, put in a teaspoonful of Vicks and inhale the vapors that way. As fast as the vapors lose their strength, throw out the melted Vicks and add fresh.

Millions of mothers find Vicks the ideal remedy for croup and children's colds because it not only brings quick relief but avoids dosing delicate little stomachs with so much medicine.

The First Disciples
Red Lk. 5:1-11. Text: 5:11. They left all and followed him.
MEDITATION—What are we called upon to leave to follow Christ? Only those things which work against our own soul's welfare, the sins of the world, the selfishness of our lower nature, our fears, our sloth. Christ calls every one to leave his burdens of sin and come into the larger, freer life of Christian experience. God has set a lamp to guide the feet of his disciples. It is the lamp of Faith. We cannot know where God will lead. The faithful disciple is to know "one step" and will not ask to see "the distant scene."

"And that is faith, to do God's will here and now, quietly leaving the results to him. Faith is not concerned with the entire chain; its devoted link is fixed upon the immediate link. Faith leaves something to the Lord; it obeys his immediate commandment and leaves to him direction and destiny."

PRAYER—Give us, O God, faith to follow in the way Christ has led. Help us to lay aside all that hinders our free Christian living. May we rejoice as children of the morning.

with bright faces and joyful hearts. Amen.

FIND TWO FIRES IN DUST CONVEYORS

Dust fires in conveyors of the Appleton Wood Products plant here caused the Appleton Fire department to be called out twice within 24 hours Monday and Tuesday, and a chimney fire at the home of Herman Kostitzke, 1509 N. Division-st., demanded the services of the firefighters again at 8:10 Tuesday morning. Both the fires at the wood products plant were caused by spontaneous combustion. It is believed. The first call came late Tuesday evening when a small blaze was found in one of the dust conveyors. The second started in the container at the top of the conveyor, which fortunately was almost empty. Both fires were extinguished easily after streams of water had been played upon them for a few minutes.

USE CAUTION WHEN YOU PICK BUILDING LOT, BUILDERS TOLD

Carncross Points Out Disadvantages of Small Lots for Homes

R. E. Carncross, Appleton realtor, was speaker at the second meeting of the Home Builders Institute Monday night at the Y. M. C. A. His subject was "Selecting and Purchasing the Building Site." Mr. Carncross was one of the speakers at the meeting last year, and was invited by the group to speak again.

Twenty-eight persons have signed up for this course of lectures. The first meeting, for organization, was held last week.

Mr. Carncross stressed the importance of choosing the lot carefully. Lots vary in size in different towns, he said, but in Appleton the usual size is 60 by 120 feet, although here there also is great variety. It is important to consider the size of the lot for created property on a small lot depreciates the total value. Neglect here also may crowd and depreciate the value of property, and there he emphasized the importance of the zoning law.

Mr. Carncross told of other important things to consider in buying a lot and urged that expert advice be sought when purchasing.

REGENTS MARK TIME ON BIRGE SUCCESSOR

F. B. Bachman, Appleton member of the Wisconsin state board of regents, left for Madison to attend a committee meeting preliminary to the regular meeting of the board Wednesday. Mr. Bachman will be in Madison for several days.

According to unofficial information it is probable that the regents will not continue their search for a new president until the legislature disposes of the university program for the next two years. This delay is planned in order that the situation at the state institution may be known to the regents' choice to succeed Dr. F. A. Birge.

It is expected that anyone asked to take the position will ask for information regarding the future plans of the university, particularly building expansion, before considering the offer. None of these questions can be answered until the legislature acts, it was pointed out.

Since Dean Roscoe Pound of the Harvard law school refused the regents' offer, the special committee has not considered the question, and Dr. Birge has indicated he desires to retire at the end of the present term.

Finkel of Seymour entertained with a slight-of-hand performance and Dr. W. L. Boyden of Seymour sang a group of vocal solos. Community singing by the group completed the evening's program. # BADGER G. O. P. TUNES UP FOR RACE IN 1926 and sail under their own rather than false colors." The preamble of the constitution adopted by the convention pledges, simplification of state government and lower taxes, denounces those who masquerade as Republicans, and warns against the substitution of personal policies for party responsibility.

"As citizens of Wisconsin in accord with the traditions and platform of the Republican party we meet in conference," says the preamble. "We are united in political belief and action to strengthen, support and maintain the principles, history and achievements of our party. So that the purposes and aims of this conference may be understood we state as follows:

"Our government is a republic, the fundamental law of which is the written constitution of the United States which provides for a purely representative form of political control. Whenever this control is suppressive of, or destructive to the constitutional rights and guarantees of the people, it is necessary for them to meet and to take such political action as will result in a return to the fundamental law.

CHARGE PERSONAL POLITICS "In the history of our country there has never been a more flagrant misuse of political control of governmental machinery than is found in Wisconsin. It is a result of the most subtle, insidious and continuing effort of persons and groups to undermine and destroy the principle of government."

This purpose culminated in a direct assault in the presidential campaign upon the basic principles upon which our entire government rests. This assault was led by the official political forces in Wisconsin masquerading as Republicans. This masquerade makes the forces who oppose Republicanism in Wisconsin beneficiaries of their own hypocrisy.

"The perversion and misuse of the primary election laws whereby candidates for office may use the Republican party designation and at the same time repudiate the judicial system of our country, the attempt to tear down constitutional safeguards, the constant effort to remove limitations on the constitution is a continuing menace to the people."

ORGY OF SPENDING "Economy and more economy in government is the declared policy of President Coolidge. Under this policy the saving to the people in federal taxes has been enormous. On the contrary, government in Wisconsin has been carried away from simplicity and economy. It has become involved and extended by bureaus and commissions with a host of inspectors and employees until its expenses have become an unbearable burden upon the taxpayers, forcing the farmers to abandon their farms, industry to leave the state and driving the small business man into bankruptcy."

As members of this organization we pledge ourselves to use every means within our power to simplify government in Wisconsin and to lower the burden of taxation."

K. C. EDUCATIONAL HEAD LEADS INDUSTRIAL FORUM A. S. MacArthur, educational director of Kimberly-Clark Co. will be the speaker at the meeting of the World Outlook Forum Wednesday evening at the Y. He has had several years' experience in educational work for industrial workers and has made a study of the problem theoretically as well as practically. He came to Kimberly last fall to take the director's position and has been active in industrial work of the community ever since. He is member of the Forum committee.

The discussion which follows the talk will be based on the questions, "Are you a practical man or are you a technical man?" and "Which do you intend to be?" Mr. MacArthur will answer questions on the subject. The public is invited to attend the meeting and take part in the discussion.

JUDGE GOES SOUTH TO RECOVER HIS HEALTH Judge A. M. Spencer left Monday in company with his daughter, Mrs. Wallace Steward, to spend several weeks at the latter's home in Nashville, Tenn. The judge has been ill and although he returned to the courthouse Monday to preside in a criminal case, his health has not been restored. He has gone south to recuperate. Judge Fred V. Heinemann of the county court, who has been taking care of the duties of the judgeship court the last three weeks, will continue to serve as acting municipal judge.

WATER COMMISSION WON'T RENT ITS OIL RESERVOIR At a meeting of the city water commission Monday appropriations were allowed in the amount of $1,155.67 for the payroll and $225.35 for general expenses.

An application by the Pettibone-Peddy Co. to use the city oil reservoir for storage of the fuel oil was disallowed because the tank is hardly large enough to store sufficient oil for the city's use. The oil generally is put into the tanks in September and one filling is sufficient for from four to five months. If it is put in later it must be heated, and as the engines in the city hall are Diesel motors which do not generate heat, the company was unable to grant the request for storage.

A petition to extend the water main on W. Summer street was received by Commissioner George H. Beckland, in charge of the distributing system, for reply at the next regular meeting.

A railroad communication was referred to Commissioner George H. Beckley for reply.

PETITION STATE TO FIRE MARSHAL WHO WAS DRUNK

Bear Creek People Accuse Greenwald With Abuse of His Office

A petition asking for the removal from office of William A. Greenwald, state deputy fire marshal, has been forwarded to the Wisconsin legislature by former Assemblyman A. M. McClone, Deer Creek, and E. J. Murray, Sugar Bush, following the dismissal Monday of arson charges brought by Greenwald against Michael McClone, a brother of the petitioner.

The petition charges the state official with misconduct in office. It is pointed out that the deputy fire marshal was under the influence of liquor when he forcibly took Bernard Murray, 14-year-old son of Charles Murray, Deer Creek, from his home, and that such information was revealed in open court in the case. The boy was said to have confessed to having been hired by Michael McClone to set fire to his store and residence, but it was asserted that the confession was obtained by threats. At the time Greenwald was in the company of two men named Loose and Wegener, the latter operating a roadhouse near Clintonville, all three of whom were more or less under the influence of liquor, the petitioners charge.

RADIO DESCRIPTION OF INAUGURATION TO START AT 10:15 A. M.

Graham McNamee, one of the country's popular radio announcers and the man who "talked" the Republican and Democratic national conventions and other of the country's greatest events, will give his popular, "Good morning, ladies and gentlemen of the radio audience," at approximately 10:15 Wednesday morning when several of the nation's most powerful stations will broadcast the inaugural of President Coolidge direct from Washington, D. C. Stations broadcasting the great event are WEA, WEEL, WJAR, WTC, WOO, WCAE, WGR, WEAR, WJZ, WJAE, WWS, WMAJ, WDAF, WJAB, WCOB, WBSB, WKI, KFO, KILZ and WRC. This is the greatest number of stations ever banded together to broadcast any great event. McNamee will start with a brief description of the "local color" followed by the United States National Band until 10:57. # LONSDORF SEEKS PARDON FOR SHELL LAKE YOUTH

John A. Lonsdorf, district attorney, has left for Madison where he will attend the state convention of district attorneys. During his stay in Madison, Mr. Lonsdorf will appeal to Governor Blaine for the pardon of Chester White, a youth now serving a term in the Green Bay reformatory for the theft of an automobile in Shell-Lake, Washburn-co. White already has served about six months of his term. The basis of Attorney Lonsdorf's plea will be the fact that at the time of the theft, White, whose parents live in Milwaukee, received word from his home that his father was very ill. Being in straitened circumstances at the time the youth appropriated a car to make the trip. Mr. Lonsdorf, having been a teacher at Shell Lake, consented to take the matter up with the governor.

MAC HARG DESCRIBES SOUTH TO P-T CLUB

A large crowd attended the meeting of the Parent-Teachers association of the First district school Monday evening. Prof. J. B. MacHarg of Lawrence college talked on the old South, discussing the state of Louisiana in particular. His talk was illustrated by slides and pictures showing the old buildings of the south, even the cabin in which Uncle Tom was supposed to have lived. Dr. Earl L. Baker of Lawrence Conservatory of Music, presented a group of boys from the sixth, seventh and eighth grades of Lincoln, Columbus and Fourth ward schools in a program of southern melodies.

A committee consisting of Mrs. George Wettengel, chairman, Mrs. S. Shannon and Mrs. G. E. Buchanan was appointed to represent the First Ward Parent-Teachers association at civic gatherings.

FREEDOM WILL INCREASE ITS SUGAR BEET ACREAGE

LOADING STATION
SOON TO BE BUILT
WILL AID GROWERS

Larger Crop and Higher Prices
Are Expected in Outagamie-
co This Summer

A. F. Schnasser, superintendent, and Joseph A. Bask, field agent, for Menominee River Sugar Beet company visited Freedom recently to select a suitable location for a beet-loading station which the company has decided to build in that village the coming season. It will relieve beet growers in that vicinity of the necessity of delivering their crops at the loading station at Little Chute.

When the proposed station is in operation, the beets grown near the village of Freedom will be trucked by the company from the sugar company at Green Bay. This local improvement has already materially increased the prospective acreage of beets to be planted near Freedom this spring. Three-hundred acres of beets will probably be unloaded at Freedom next fall.

Although some beet growers were discouraged by the unfavorable weather conditions prevailing during the growing season last year, they are lining up now for another trial the coming season. As a number of other farmers who have never raised sugar beets are intending to make a trial, the prospect is that more acres than ever before will be planted this spring in Outagamie-co. "People connected with the sugar beet industry are expecting a larger crop and higher prices next season than prevailed last season," asserted Mr. Bask.

DISCUSS CABBAGE
POOLS ON MARCH 18

County Association Will Resume
Consideration of This Plan at Meeting

The first meeting of the Outagamie Cabbage Growers' association since the incorporation of the organization will take place in Appleton Wednesday, March 18, at which time officers will be elected.

Discussion of the proposal of cooperative marketing will be resumed. A committee is investigating the subject and may have a report to make at the meeting. The association is endeavoring to obtain Prof. Theodore Macklin of Wisconsin college of agriculture as a speaker who would help the association formulate the plans for the cooperative marketing project.

ENGAGE SPEAKERS FOR INSTITUTE

The tentative program of the farmers institute to be held at Bear Creek on Thursday and Friday, March 12 and 13, includes two speakers of prominence. O. R. Zeasmon of the drainage department of the Wisconsin college of agriculture will give a talk on Drainage. Those in charge of the institute also are endeavoring to obtain John Brann as a speaker. Mr. Brann is a photo inspector for the certified potato seed growers.

EITHER WHEAT OR OATS
NURSE CROP FOR CLOVER

Urbana, Ill.—Years of experimentation by the University of Illinois college of agriculture show there is no marked difference between winter wheat and oats as nurse crop for clover.

According to H. J. Snider, assistant chief of the college's soil experiment fields, farmers who plan to sow red clover, therefore, can seed it in either of these grains and get equal results. Of course, this is provided that other conditions are equal and favorable for the growing clover.

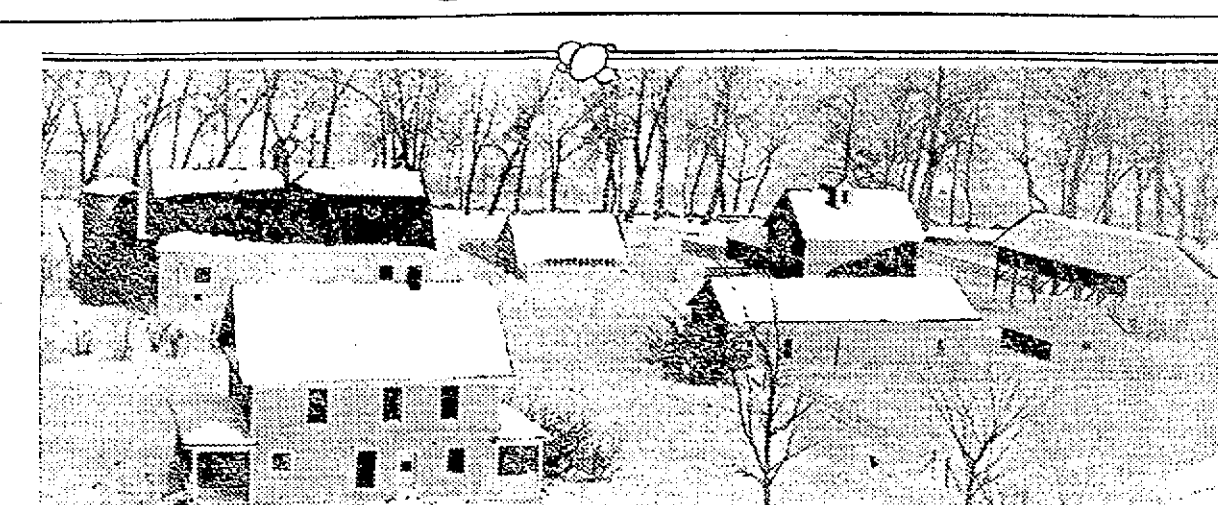

In one field, Snider points out, red clover had been seeded in winter wheat for 17 consecutive years, and more than 76 per cent of the seedlings were successful. In another field, red clover was seeded in oats for 15 years, and almost 88 per cent were successful.

In another plot, however, out of 22 years of seedlings in oats, 77 per cent were successful.

"The results of these long experiments," says Snider, "indicate there is little difference between the two nurse crops."

Farmer Saves Mile A Day If Buildings
Are Arranged According To His Work

Lincoln, Neb.—It has been estimated by the Nebraska College of Agriculture that the average farmer, in doing his chores, walks one unnecessary mile a day, all on account of improper arrangement of his farm buildings.

To start the hundreds of embryo farmers at the college on the right road, the students of the college have built a model farmstead in miniature which represents a nearly ideal arrangement for a 150-acre farm in the prairie states. Built to one-quarter scale in the workshops of the college, the model now stands on the campus where it offers ocular evidence of the correct way to lay out buildings, fences and the like.

The buildings comprising the model include a comfortable, attractive farmhouse, set on a concrete foundation and equipped with modern conveniences; an up-to-date dairy barn with a solid wall concrete silo; a hay shed for alfalfa; a horse barn; a hog house; a tool shed and shop; a poultry house and a machine shed. The plan was worked out for one particular farm and has been tried out with great success on farms in several counties of Nebraska.

Working on the theory that every farm is a factory, in a sense, the Nebraska college expects, through the medium of its model farmstead, to show the coming generation of farmers how to avoid many of the unnecessary handicaps under which their fathers labored. As one-fifth of the value of all farm properties is invested in buildings, it becomes apparent what importance attaches to their construction and general arrangements with relation to one another.

DUTIES CONSIDERED
In disposing of the buildings of the model farmstead so as to reduce to a minimum the number of steps the average farmer has to take each day in performing his ordinary duties, consideration was given to the question of just what these duties consist of. A general plan was then worked out, which in the model farmstead, takes him from place to place as follows:

When starting out on his morning chores he goes from the house to the barn, where he tends the horses and milks the cows and calves, and, after separating the milk, feeds the calves. The skim milk that remains is then carried to the pigs at the farrowing pens after which the farmer goes to the combined crib and granary to feed the fattening hogs and fat cattle. In returning he passes to the hay shed and feeds the stock cattle and then the poultry. Next he steps into the milk room at the barn, gets his cream, returns to the house and his chores are done.

SAVES MANY STEPS
While doing all this he has walked only 750 feet, whereas on farms laid out in haphazard manner he might have walked three or four times as far. The path he has walked is shown by dotted lines on the plan of the farmstead.

Again, suppose it is evening and the farmer is coming through the lower gate to the hay shed. His course to the barn leads past nearly all of the buildings, and most of the chores can be done while the team he is driving is reaching the tank, drinking and going to the barn.

When the horses and cows are attended to, his evening chores are completed.

LOCATION NOTED

Many other points were given consideration in planning this farmstead to make it practical and at the same time comfortable and pleasant. For instance, the barns and yards are located east of the house so that unpleasant odors are carried away by the wind which, in the territory for which it was designed, usually is south and southwest in summer, and north and northwest in winter.

The house, moreover, is located on high, well-drained land insuring a good view and preventing harmful drainage from reaching it.

All of the buildings are so located as to act as windbreaks to adjoining yards, and nearly all the fences serve two yards. The yards are adjacent to the pastures and the garden close to the house. The farm scales are so situated as to be handy for weighing grain and stock, and it is possible to drive to nearly all of the buildings without opening gates.

CORR. BARN

In locating the barn it was considered that buildings situated in the sun, but with breezes blowing through them in summer, are cooler and more comfortable than those in the shade, but with no breeze. Hence the barn has a central alley running through it from north to south, and the building is cool even in very hot weather. In general, it is desirable that farm buildings should be placed close to the highway if possible, although the house should not be too near a main automobile highway on account of the dust that arises from it. Another point advocated is that the buildings need not be close to the water supply.

PERSEVERING DAD
MADE SCHAEFERS
CATTLE PIONEERS

His Old Country Memories
Brought First Holstein Cattle to This County

BY W. F. WINSEY

Although Henry Schaefer, father of George R. Schaefer, Greenville, and R. J. Schaefer, Clayton, had marvelously improved his herd of shorthorn cattle as milk and beef producers, he was continually talking to his sons about the stately black and white cattle of surpassing shape, size and beauty that he had frequently seen passing from Holland along the highways near his youthful home in Germany to a change in pasture or to market. He expressed the wish that it might sometime be within his power to supplant his herd of shorthorns with that foreign type.

So deeply impressed were his sons with his oft reiterated desire and the superiority of Holland cattle that they became ardent admirers of the breed long before they had seen a representative. They also became possessed of their father's desire for a change.

While the father was imbuing his sons with his opinion of the Holstein cow in this manner, grain-raising and fattening cattle for market were their chief source of income on his farm. In the latter years of the education process, the profits of grain-raising were gradually diminishing and an attractive market for dairy products was opening up.

FINALLY FOUND BREED

Prepared thus to take advantage of the change in farm activities, the Schaefer boys were on the watch for the cow described by their father. While they were on the lookout, William, then a budding Greenville farmer, visited his brother Henry, a young attorney who had hung out his shingle in Milwaukee.

During this visit, Henry declared to William that he had found the type of cow seen by their father in the old country and invited William to accompany him on a trip to the farm of Rusk Bros. West Allis, to see the cow for himself. The upshot of this visit was that William purchased a male and a female calf on the spot. To the delight of his father, William shipped both calves to the old farmstead where in 1890 they became the foundation of the first two Holstein herds in that vicinity. One of these herds is that of George Schaefer and the other that of R. J. Schaefer.

"As milk and beef producers," said George Schaefer to the writer, "the Holsteins are the best cattle to be had. At two weeks old a cow weighs at least 150 pounds, a steer two years old can easily weigh 1,100 pounds, and a cow that has lost her milk producing powers sells in one nary times at not less than $75. As milk producers, Holstein cows are second to no other breed."

HARD TO PROMOTE

Notwithstanding the fact that the Schaefers in their pioneer days of raising purebred cattle were compelled to do "missionary work" to create a demand for them among beginners in the dairy business, they readily disposed of their surplus animals at good prices and did exceedingly well in dairying. Their market for purebreds now covers not only home territory but also Michigan, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska and the greater part of Wisconsin.

In R. J. Schaefer's herd was Caroline Paul Parthenia that held the world's record as a butter producer for 1911 and 1913. Her record for 1911 was 1,110.14 pounds and for 1913 1,200.18 pounds. The sires used in improving both herds later were sons and grandsons of this famous cow.

Another herd sire of the Schaefers was Prince Inka De Kol Rue, son of Bessie De Kol Rue. As a two year old, Bessie held the world's record as a butter producer.

Sir Johanna Plebe, however, was one of the best herd sires ever owned by the Schaefers. He was famous as a producer of world record cows. His daughters attracted worldwide attention by taking more prizes for butter production than the daughters of any other sire of the breed. Years after the Schaefers had used this bull, government officials from Washington came to the Schaefer farms to look up the production records of his offspring. Before leaving they picked up a carload of daughters and granddaughters of Sir Johanna Plebe as the best producers furnished at the time by the Holstein breed. Such animals as these spread the Schaefer name and fame abroad among dairymen made the sale of their strain of Holstein cattle an easy matter.

George Schaefer now has 50 animals in his herd including 20 cows. His present herd sire is Sir Peterle Ormsby whose dam was a 1,000-pound daughter of Sir Johanna Plebe. The past few years, because the demand has not been strong enough to warrant the trouble and expense, George Schaefer has not been keeping up official cow-testing records. Instead of this, he has been giving attention and time to private butterfat testing and to the production of good individuals.

"Dairying," concluded George Schaefer, "is now up against the general depression in farming. The sales of all products except those of the farm is protected. Farmers are compelled to buy in an established market and to sell their surplus in the now bankrupt markets of European countries."

DORSCHNER GETS
BEST MILK FLOW
OF DALE'S HERDS

Takes Individual and Herd Production Records for Month of January

Butterfat production records of 69 and 68 pounds gave cows owned by Otto Dorschner the lead for the month of January in the Dale-Hortonville Cow Testing association, according to the report of Clement Rickaby, official tester. White Beauty, a purebred Holstein, milked 1,978 pounds with test of 3.5 per cent and made 69.2 pounds of butterfat. Spot, a grade Holstein, was her nearest competitor with a 1,752-pound milk flow, test of 3.9 per cent and butterfat total of 68.3 pounds.

Mr. Dorschner made the best record, as six of his cows were among the production leaders. The herd of grade and registered Holsteins averaged 1,342 pounds of milk for the month, with fat test of 3.53 per cent and butterfat of 47.37 pounds. Highest producers of the association were:
